1967 TYPE CREATIVE WORKSHOP SPORT SPECIALE

Put a Ferrari Testa Rossa, Aston Martin DBR1 and Maserati 450 S into a mixer – a horrifying thought, but bear with us – and this is what you get: The Creative Workshop Sport Speciale. Commissioned by Barry and Lynn Smith of Scottsdale, Arizona, it's a triumph of style and engineering.

Under the classic hand-formed aluminium bodywork sits a Superleggera-style tubular chrome-moly chassis and an F1-inspired fuel-injected BMW V12 with six-speed gearbox, Brembo disc brakes and adjustable suspension.

Jason Wenig of The Creative Workshop says: 'The vision behind this car was to produce a car that would seamlessly fit into the paddock of 1959, the mentioned marques in the stalls to the right and left, and our car waiting in the middle to show the expecting crowd our team's endeavours.'

The crowd would have been mightily impressed.
